Course name: Readings in childhood (in English.

Course number: 0513335

Course credit: 3 hours.

Prerequisite: Without.

Course Description: The student will learn about the benefit of early childhood care and education, acquire the principles of growth and development in various domains: theories of development. The impact of developmental processes on early childhood practice and types of techniques of observation, and explain the importance of play the student must demonstrate skills in practical application of developmental principles and theories, observation techniques in studying the child behavior.