

Zarqa University
Faculty of Educational Science
Department of Library and Information Technology

No. 0512456

Electronic Publishing

3 C.H.

This course is intended to introduce students to the concepts of electronic publishing. The role of computers and modern telecommunications in support of library functions and services. Electronic tools, software packages for electronic publishing. Electronic resources, CD-ROMs and their role in the dissemination of information. Information networks and electronic publishing. Electronic publishing in America, Europe and the Arab world. Economics of electronic publishing. Problems in electronic publishing. Practical training in the field.