Third: Course Description

Discourse analysis is a broad and complex interdisciplinary field. It includes somewhat diverse theoretical and methodological approaches from linguistics, anthropology, and sociology. This course focuses on several important methodological approaches that have been developed to do discourse analysis. Methods are motivated by and intertwined with theories, so the course inevitably addresses some theoretical issues. But the course intends primarily to provide students with methodological tools for studying naturally-occurring speech.

Because of its methodological goals, the course involves both reading and data analysis exercises. The course introduces a few approaches to understanding the relations between linguistic categories and social life, spending more time on conceptual issues earlier in the semester. Then it alternates between further reading and opportunities to analyze data. Some classes are set aside as data analysis sessions, in which data provided by the instructor or the students is analyzed in detail.

Fourth: Course Objectives

1. Get Acquainted with basic concepts and approaches to discourse analysis.

2. Deal with levels of language beyond the sentence level in both speech and writing.

3. Examine conversational strategies, exchange structure, dimensions of discourse analysis and standards of textuality.

4. Apply discourse analysis to everyday situations that involve language production and comprehension.
