

Courses' Description Fundamentals of Religion

| Course No. | Course Title    | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|-----------------|-------|--------------|
| 0102110    | QuranicSciences | 3     |              |

This course discusses introductions related to the sciences of the Qur'an in terms of definition and history of codification. It also examines the most prominent topics of the sciences of the Qur'an such as revelation, causes of revelation, copying, translation, Meccan and Medinan. The suspicions raised about it and its response.

| Course No. | Course Title                         | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|--------------------------------------|-------|--------------|
| 0102112    | QuranReciting(1) (Tilawah andTajwid) | 3     |              |

This course discusses introductions to recitation and Tajwid, rulings on Istaatha, basmalah, rulings of the consonants and tanween, and the provisions of the constant memme, the rulings of the mudod, taking into account the practical application of the rulings, and memorizing the last two parts of the Qur'an

| Course No. | Course Title   | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|----------------|-------|--------------|
| 0102121    | HadithSciences | 3     |              |

This course discusses the introduction to the sciences of hadith in terms of its definition, codification, and the most prominent works in it, the authority of the Sunnah and the suspicions raised and its response, and it examines its types in terms narration, its degree, its decisiveness, etc., and the provisions of each type

| Course No. | Course Title | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|--------------|-------|--------------|
| 0102131    | Aqeedah (1)  | 3     |              |

This course looks into the introductions of theology in terms of definition, importance, and properties. The methods and paths of inference for this science. The course also studies the meaning of Islam and faith and the difference between them, and the controls of expiation, as well as the study of the pillar of belief in angels.

| Course No. | Course Title                         | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|--------------------------------------|-------|--------------|
| 0102212    | QuranReciting(2) (Tilawah andTajwid) | 3     | 0102112      |

This course will study the articulation of sounds and their features, the gloss, the thinning, the diphthongs, and the silent L, taking into account the mastery of the practical side of the provisions that have been discussed and memorizing the two chapters of the holy Quran: twenty-seventh and twenty-eight.

| Course No. | Course Title                         | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|--------------------------------------|-------|--------------|
| 0102312    | QuranReciting(3) (Tilawah andTajwid) | 3     | 0102212      |

This course discusses the provisions of signs of stopping and initiation, the seven letters, drawing the Qur'an, introducing the readers, alerts and exclusives related to Hafs's narration and memorizing the two parts: the twenty-fifth and twenty-sixth, with mastery of recitation..

| Course No. | Course Title    | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|-----------------|-------|--------------|
| 0102117    | GeneralExegesis | 3     | 0102121      |

This course looks into the introductions to the science of Eexegesis, its history, the difference between it and hermeneutics, and the conditions for correct interpretation. And the interpretation of JuzAmma in general, the course also includes a self-study of the meanings of vocabulary and structures for the last third of the Holy Qur'an.

| Course No. | Course Title       | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|--------------------|-------|--------------|
| 0102123    | Takhreej Al-Hadith | 3     |              |

This course discusses the definition of Takhrij Hadith, its origins, and its methods, considering the subject, the narrator, or the utterance. It also examines the study of the chain of narrators and what is required of drawing the tree of the narration, comparing narrations, verifying the conditions of the narrators and communicating the narrators.

| Course No. | Course Title                     | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|----------------------------------|-------|--------------|
| 0102132    | The Prophet'sSirah&Khalifs'Deeds | 3     |              |

This course examines the sources of the biography of the Prophet, the conditions for its acceptance, and the most important events of the biography of the Prophet, with the introduction of the 4 caliphs in terms of their life and receipt of the caliphate and his work and drawing lessons, and linking them to contemporary reality.

| Course No. | Course Title             | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|--------------------------|-------|--------------|
| 0102217    | AnalyticalInterpretation | 3     |              |

This course examines a grammatical and stylistic analysis of each verse of Surat Al-Nur, and a subjective study of the meanings of vocabulary and structures for the middle third of the Noble Qur'an.

| Course No. | Course Title     | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|------------------|-------|--------------|
| 0102222    | AnalyticalHadith | 3     |              |

This article looks into the analytical explanation of The Forty Nawawi Hadiths, by stating the meanings of the vocabulary and the structures contained therein, and inferring the inferred doctrinal, jurisprudential and behavioral rulings, and memorizing the text of the The Forty Nawawi Hadiths

| Course No. | Course Title | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|--------------|-------|--------------|
| 0102231    | Aqeedah (2)  | 3     | 0102131      |

This course is a mandatory requirement to specialize in the fundamentals of religion. It deals with the study of three pillars of faith, which are: belief in the Prophets and Messengers, belief in the divine books, as well as belief in the Judgment day.

| Course No. | Course Title    | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|-----------------|-------|--------------|
| 0102314    | QuranNarrations | 3     |              |

This course introduces the study of Quran Narrations, their controls, stylistic characteristics, and suspicions raised. And the definition of the literature therein and their methods, along with a detailed and objective study of the stories of some of the prophets.

| Course No. | Course Title             | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|--------------------------|-------|--------------|
| 0102317    | Objective Interpretation | 3     |              |

This course examines the definition of Objective Interpretation and the difference between it and other types of exegesis, the emergence of objective exegesis and literature therein, the extent of the need for it, its types, and the method of research in each of them, while applying it with a practical research

| Course No. | Course Title | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|--------------|-------|--------------|
| 0102331    | Aqeedah (3)  | 3     | 01022131     |

This course discusses Allah's names and attributes, introduces the rules for understanding Allah's, and the doctrines in its study, and deals with the definition of the pillar of faith in fate, the position of the sects from it, and the suspicions raised about it..

| Course No. | Course Title         | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|----------------------|-------|--------------|
| 0102332    | ReligionsComparative | 3     |              |

This course is considered one of the compulsory requirements for the specialization of Fundamentals of Religion, and we include the study of major religions: Hinduism -Buddhism - Judaism - Christianity, judged by the doctrine of Islam

| Course No. | Course Title     | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|------------------|-------|--------------|
| 0102338    | SectsandFactions | 3     |              |

This course introduces the Sects and Factions in terms of their origins and the most prominent ideas (such as the Kharijites, the Marjiya, the Shiites, the Mu'tazila, the Nasiriyah, the Baha'i, and the Qadianis) and the types of intellectual invasion and its danger

| Course No. | Course Title            | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|-------------------------|-------|--------------|
| 0102352    | Morals andPurifications | 3     |              |

This course looks into the concept of "Morals and Purifications", its importance, features, objectives and purposes, its sources, its mandatory nature, and its fruits. It also deals with the definition of the motives of the soul, the conditions of the hearts, the tongue, the soul, and the good and bad of morals.

| Course No. | Course Title             | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|--------------------------|-------|--------------|
| 0102416    | MiraculousAspectsofQuran | 3     |              |

This course will study the science of Miraculous Aspects of Quran, tracing the levels of its origin, identifying its types, with an applied study of examples from the Holy Qur'an and responding to the relevant suspicions.

| Course No. | Course Title           | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|------------------------|-------|--------------|
| 0102423    | Hadith Texts Criticism | 3     |              |

This course discusses the criticism of the text Hadith, its origin, the practice of critics, the response to the suspicions raised, the statement of the evidence of legitimacy, criticism and fundamentalism, and the disclosure of criteria for criticism of the text with application to a number of hadiths.

| Course No. | Course Title             | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|--------------------------|-------|--------------|
| 0102333    | Islamic Terms in English | 3     |              |

This course examines the most prominent Islamic terms in English on topics like faith, jurisprudence, biography, etc., with training to express them in clear sentences and translate Islamic paragraphs to English.