

Courses' Description Fundamentals of Jurisprudence

| Course No. | Course Title                          | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|---------------------------------------|-------|--------------|
| 0101111    | Introduction to Islamic Jurisprudence | 3     |              |

This course deals with Islamic jurisprudence in terms of its definition, origin, development, stages, features, objectives and sources, and introduces students to jurisprudential schools of thought in terms of their most prominent scholars, works and terminology.

| Course No. | Course Title                             | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|--|-------|--------------|
| 0101113    | Jurisprudence of Purification and Prayer | 3     |              |

This course discusses a general definition of worship, its conditions and characteristics, then details the provisions for purity and prayer in terms of conditions, pillars, types, invalidators, reasons, and knowledge of the evidence for all of that, and the most prominent provisions related to each of them

| Course No. | Course Title                              | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|---|-------|--------------|
| 0101224    | Fundamentals of Islamic Jurisprudence (1) | 3     |              |

The Course discusses the introduction of the origins and fundamentals of jurisprudence, its legitimacy, its sections, and its , Eligibility and its cases.

| Course No. | Course Title   | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|--|-------|--------------|
| 0101147    | Methodologies of Research and Resources of Islamic Studies | 3     |              |

This course introduces the methods of scientific research, its means, and tools, the terminology of knowledge and science and what is related to them, and the sources for studying and researching Sharia sciences.

| Course No. | Course Title          | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|-----------------------|-------|--------------|
| 0101226    | Principles of Islamic | 3     |              |

This course is compulsory for students in the specializations of Fundamentals of Religion and The Fundamentals of Jurisprudence and includes: money and property, the contract and its conditions and types, money and property, the provisions and types of sales, , usury, peace, sale of a contract for manufacture, exchange, leasing, and the gift.

| Course No. | Course Title   | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|--|-------|--------------|
| 0101216    | The International Relations in Islam and the Ruling of Jihad | 3     |              |

This course deals with the definition of international relations in general, international law among Muslim jurists, the historical evolution of international relations, international Relations Under War, and international treaties and how war ends and its impact.

| Course No. | Course Title | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|--------------|-------|--------------|
|------------|--------------|-------|--------------|

|         |   |   |  |
|---------|---|---|--|
| 0101218 | Jurisprudence of Alms, Pilgrimage and Fasting | 3 |  |
|---------|---|---|--|

This course includes teaching the provisions of acts of worship, which are: the provisions of zakat, the provisions of fasting, and the provisions of Hajj, with an explanation and clarification of its pillars, conditions, types, invalidators, and reasons.

| Course No. | Course Title                              | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|---|-------|--------------|
| 0101227    | Fundamentals of Islamic Jurisprudence (2) | 3     | 0101224      |

This course discusses the original and dependant sources of legislation in terms of definition, source, authority, decisiveness, and applications.

| Course No. | Course Title                 | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|------------------------------|-------|--------------|
| 0101235    | Jurisprudence of Punishments | 3     |              |

This course discusses the penal system and its philosophy in Islam, the course also discusses the definition of crime, its pillars and divisions, the course also discusses crimes and their penalties, as well as murder, its types and sanctions, retribution and retaliation, blood money in Islam.

| Course No. | Course Title                  | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|-------------------------------|-------|--------------|
| 0101237    | The Islamic Government System | 3     |              |

This course is a compulsory requirement for students of jurisprudence and its fundamentals, and an optional requirement for students of fundamentals of religion. It includes the concept of the state and its pillars in Islamic jurisprudence, the rules of the system of ruling, the selection of the head of state, and public authorities

| Course No. | Course Title                         | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|--------------------------------------|-------|--------------|
| 0101243    | Jurisprudence of Personal Status (1) | 3     |              |

This course discusses the marriage contract, its introductions, pillars, conditions, nullities and effects, the separation in marriage such as divorce, and the reasons for each type, conditions, type and effects.

| Course No. | Course Title                                     | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|--|-------|--------------|
| 0101119    | Jurisprudence of Corporations and Documentations | 3     | 0101214      |

This article discusses agencies and companies in terms of their types, provisions, expiry and contemporary applications, in addition to documentation such as hawala and sponsorship

| Course No. | Course Title                                | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|---|-------|--------------|
| 0101315    | Jurisprudence of Faith, Vows and Sacrifices | 3     |              |

This course discusses the definition of faith, its legitimacy, its divisions, its pillars, and its penances, as well as the jurisprudence of vows, their meaning, elements, and conditions, as well as: the jurisprudence of hunting, sacrifices, and aqeeqah

| Course No. | Course Title                 | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|------------------------------|-------|--------------|
| 0101318    | The Economic System in Islam | 3     |              |

A special requirement for the Department of Islamic Jurisprudence and Its Fundamentals, this course discusses the financial regulation issues of the Islamic state, such as the reasons for ownership, and the sources of the treasury, such as zakat and alms, taxes and tithes, the tribute and exclusion, spoils and wealth, in addition to the banks of the treasury

| Course No. | Course Title                    | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|---------------------------------|-------|--------------|
| 0101324    | Fundamentals of Jurisprudence 3 | 3     | 0101227      |

This course examines linguistic expressions in terms of status (the literal and Figurative meaning) and the inclusion (public, private and common) And clarity( the text, , the interpreted, the arbitrary, the similar, the outlined, the problematic, and the Hidden One.

| Course No. | Course Title                      | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|-----------------------------------|-------|--------------|
| 0101329    | Jurisprudence of Quran and Sunnah | 3     |              |

| Course No. | Course Title                        | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|-------------------------------------|-------|--------------|
| 0101343    | Jurisprudence of Personal Status(2) | 3     | 0101243      |

This course discusses the inheritance and related inheritance rights (such as wills, debt repayment, and inheritances) and the reasons for inheritance, its conditions, and its contraindications, then the conditions of the owners of assumptions and bonds and the calculation of the inheritance..

| Course No. | Course Title                 | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|------------------------------|-------|--------------|
| 0101418    | Modern Jurisprudence Studies | 3     |              |

This course looks into the most prominent new matters and emerging jurisprudential issues such as: banking, insurance, cash, swap bonds, and some medical issues

| Course No. | Course Title                 | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|------------------------------|-------|--------------|
| 0101412    | Jurisprudence Rules in Islam | 3     |              |

This course looks into the rules of jurisprudence in terms of its definition, origin, sources, divisions, and applications, and its analyzes, branches and exceptions

| Course No. | Course Title              | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|---------------------------|-------|--------------|
| 0101421    | Comparative Jurisprudence | 3     |              |

This course will study the definition of comparative Jurisprudence ( Fiqh), the reasons for Fiqh , disagreement, the definition of doctrinal terms and an analytical study of selected comparative issues.

| Course No. | Course Title                    | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|---------------------------------|-------|--------------|
| 0101424    | Fundamentals of Jurisprudence 4 | 3     | 0101324      |

This course looks into the Investigation of Jurisprudence, Tradition, Advisory Opinion, Conflict and Weighting through Text Reading in Books on the Origins of Jurisprudence.

| Course No. | Course Title                        | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|-------------------------------------|-------|--------------|
| 0101430    | Jurisprudence ofDawah andAl Khataba | 3     |              |

This course studies the definition of Dawah, its legitimacy, its characteristics, methods, the obstacles facing the Muslim preacher, and how to overcome it, The course also aims at introducing the practical applications of the Khatabaand contemporary Dawah

| Course No. | Course Title                   | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|--------------------------------|-------|--------------|
| 0101433    | Fiqh of Jurisdiction and Proof | 3     |              |

The definition of the judiciary, its legality, its ruling and its conditions, the judge's etiquette and conditions, the rulings of the judge, and the conduct of the trial, the verdict by confusion and the knowledge of the judge, the judging of the absent, ruling, testimony, confession, oaths and evidence.

| Course No. | Course Title    | Hours | Prerequisite |
|------------|-----------------|-------|--------------|
| 0101436    | IslamicPolitics | 3     |              |

This course examines Sharia policy in terms of its concept, conditions, evidence of their consideration, foundations, applications and controls, and defines the objectives of Sharia.